J WILL COST KROONLAND $10,726 FOR CANAL TOLL

NEW YORK.—It will cost the American steamships Kroonland and Finland $10,726 apiece to pass through the Panama canal, or more than $21,000 for the round trip from New York to San Francisco and back. Fifty vessels have applied to the surveyor of the port for measurement under the canal rules. Thirty have been so far given certificates, which they will produce whenever they go through.

There is no fee for measurement, and foreign countries can also measure for the canal traffic. It will cost a fair sized freighter $5,000 to go through. The fees are without regard to her displacement tonnage or to what is in her; and it is said it may be possible to put through the canal a cargo whose tonnage is three times that of the net registered tonnage upon which tolls are being charged.

It will cost the auxiliary motor yacht Eclipse $78 every time she goes through. The rate is $1.20 a net registered ton. The Canal Commission worked for years to figure out the new rules.
